Subject: Permission request

To: &lt;j.audino@ieee.org&gt;

Dear Sir/Madam,

As Mrs. Nicole forwarded to you from support center:

I have just started a building single page web app that lists books related to "Antenna Technology".

<https://antennabooks.github.io/>

In the site I am advertising technical books related to "Antennas" by giving their abstract and table of contents grabbed from your site.

Currently I added some of IEEE books meanwhile realizing need for permission.

Since my website is kind of personal blog and does not share any further contents besides abstract and TOC, I am kindly requesting from you official permission to including them.

In order to clarify and summarize;

- I'll want to use book cover, abstract and table of contents of the books related to "Antenna Engineering". These contents are taken from your publicly available website.
- I am not distributing any chapter or text from book.
- I always give link to publisher (your site) and reseller (Amazon).
- You can visit my site to see what I am sharing (Please visit Website and click on one of the books)
- My website serve as non-commercial.

I really appreciate if you can grant me to use contents I requested. Your Copyright issues will be always preserved.

Recently same permission is granted from "Springer", "IET" and "Artech House" for my site, and other publisher's response is also pending.

Thanks for your help. Best regards,

Hüseyin Yiğit

Dear Hüseyin,

I do not handle permissions so I forwarded your request to the permissions department and am waiting for a response. I will let you know when I have some information.

Regards,
Jeanne

Dear Huseyin,

I see on your site that you already include some books published by Wiley. Have you obtained permission from them to include those books? We publish in partnership with Wiley and our books are on their site.

Jeanne

Dear Jeanne,

Thanks for your response.

The site is online only for testing purposes and publishers (your) review right now. I have not announced it yet to my contacts via any platform. And I promise no private/paid content is shared ever that concept of the site will remain as it is.

Request permission is already sent Wiley also, but did not receive any response yet. However there many "antenna" books known as published from IEEE press and sponsored by IEEE Antenna and Propagation Society.

Artech House, IET and Springer declared this kind of public contents are within the scope of free-use policy. I included below their grant responses in order to help you for positive decision.

Your help is really appreciated. Best regards,

Artech House:

Dear Hüseyin Yiğit,

Thank you for reaching out about this. You have our permission to use our book covers, tables of contents and abstracts on your web app as long as you link back to Artech House's website. Best of luck with the project.

Kind regards,

IET Digital Library:

Dear Hüseyin Yiğit,

Thank you for your email.

Permission isn't needed as titles/ToCs and abstracts are not considered reuse of 'content' and are covered by fair-use policy.

Thank you for checking.

With kind regards,

Springer:

Dear Hüseyin Yiğit,

Thank you for getting back to me.

We, herewith, grant you permission to proceed with your plans. Please make sure that the original Springer source is always acknowledged.

High-resolution covers can be downloaded from our website.

Please find here some title in the area Antenna Engineering:

Dear Hüseyin,

The permissions person here at IEEE has granted permission for you to do this as long as you do what you describe in your email and do not sell or post book files. This permission is to link to IEEE Xplore. If you want to link to Wiley, you will have to wait for permission from them. I also wrote to my contact person at Wiley, but she is on vacation until January. Our books are available in IEEE Xplore and on Wiley's website (and also Amazon).

Regards,

Jeanne

Dear Jeanne,

Thank you for granting permission using resources for declared purpose. I promise that your Copyright issues will be always respected.

Also your help about making contact with Wiley also really appreciated.
